The Jim Bernstein Community Health Leadership Fellows program prepares emerging leaders to work in and improve the health and wellness of North Carolina's rural communities.

The Jim & Sue Bernstein Health Center Scholarship program helps to relieve the financial burden on the employees of eligible health centers by helping to pay for both the clinical education of rural clinic staff members, and the college education of their dependents.

The Center of Excellence for Integrated Care partners with health systems and communities to transform clinical, operational, and financial systems to integrate physical and behavioral healthcare, and support whole-person care for all.

NCCARE360 is the first statewide network that unites health care and human services organizations with a shared technology that enables a coordinated, community-oriented, person-centered approach for delivering care in North Carolina.

The NC Oral Health Collaborative convenes diverse stakeholders from across North Carolina to identify and resolve barriers to good oral health, as well as to accelerate the implementation of proven policies and practices.

The NC Rural Health Leadership Alliance is a coordinated network of administrative leaders and experienced practitioners representing rural health organizations and individuals striving to improve the health of rural North Carolinians through education, partnerships, and advocacy efforts.

PRISM (Provider Retention & Information System Management) software is the first web-based tool to provide a standardized, state-of-the-art way for state primary care and Office of Rural Health personnel to routinely gather, analyze, and present real-time data from providers serving in National Health Service Corps, state and other incentive programs.

Results NC is a collaboration of efforts between FHLI, the North Carolina Healthcare Foundation, the N.C. Division of Public Health, the WNC Health Network, and The Duke Endowment to expand best practice models of regional CHNA collaboration throughout North Carolina.

Rural Forward NC assists communities in achieving improved health outcomes by building capacity and developing resources that amplify the impact of rural leaders, organizations, and coalitions in Halifax, Rockingham, Edgecombe, Nash, and Beaufort Counties.
